WOMAN KILLED LAST EVENING BY LOCAL TRAIN.

Mrs. Sally Pemberton, widow, was killed last night by a Pennsylvania local passenger train between the Main and Miller street crossings about six twenty.

Mrs. Pemberton lives near the railroad and was running up what she thought was a side track but she turned to the main track just as the train came to the switch by the freight house.

There were several bystanders at the Main street crossing who saw the woman was not run over but knocked down at the side of the track. When picked up she was dead.

The body was moved to H. A. Egan's undertaking establishment. Those who are connected with the family say the unfortunate woman was running to mail a letter and in her haste probably did not know just what track she was on.

Her husband died a few years ago and there is a large family of sons and daughters.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT; WILSON GETS VERDICT.

There was a great surprise in the Chew-Wilson damage suit Thursday morning. Judge Gowdy instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant, Wilson.

There was no direct evidence damaging to Wilson and the court directed a verdict which ended the case. Attorney Darlington announced that he will appeal the case.

Update Gazette readers have not had the opportunity of even knowing such a case was being heard let alone reading of the testimony. Larger city papers have been using the story.

One of the greatest legal battles in the history of the county is now on in Common Pleas Court this week.

Fanton Chew of the Xenia Gazette, is plaintiff in an action for $50,000 damages against L. D. Wilson, Xenia, for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

Judge Shoup and M. J. Hartley represent Wilson while Capt. Charles Darlington is counsel for Chew.

Many legal points of interest over certain portions of the testimony being admitted are being watched by the legal fraternity. At the opening session Judge Gowdy ruled in favor of Wilson on most of the points raised. While the case borders largely on the sensational order yet the large crowd present did not get to hear a letter read that was supposed to be a confession of Mrs. Chew to her husband. Judge Gowdy ruled out the letter. The jury was dismissed during the argument over the letter.

LUCKY STRIKE cigarette

Chew claimed that Wilson with Earl Snyder and wife and Mrs. Chew and Wilson were registered at the Hotel in Cincinnati last fall. A. M. Gullen, clerk of the hotel, and J. E. Reddy, house detective, produced the hotel register but Wilson's name was not on it. In the party was one J. D. White of Columbus. Neither the detective or clerk could identify Wilson as a member of the party.

Marshall Wolf, cashier of the Citizens National Bank was called to examine the "White" signature but would not testify that it was Wilson's writing while there was a similarity. Other witnesses called by the plaintiff Wednesday offered little testimony that could be considered direct evidence against Wilson.

DEMANDING STREET OIL

We have had many inquiries this week when council was to order street oil. At the Monday evening meeting the clerk was instructed to get prices at once. The few windy dry days has brought us considerable dust.

When an operation was performed on Milford Wright, 3, Port Clinton, a sewing needle was found in the lad's liver.

Eighteen men were hurt, 11 seriously, when a swinging platform forming a bridge between the steamer F. B. Squires and the dock landing at the Toledo Shipbuilding company's yards, at Toledo, collapsed under the weight of work.

Approximately $30,000 worth of forged pay checks of the Erie railroad, many of which have been cashed, have been circulated in northeastern Ohio cities.

Frederick road, between Washington, G. H. and Bloomington, will be rebuilt by the state at a cost of more than $50,000.

Tiffin chamber of commerce made an industrial survey of the city.

Resolution introduced at a meeting of the Norwalk Ministerial association advocating a movement to close movie theaters on Sunday was tabled indefinitely.

At Cleveland Common Pleas Judge Florence E. Allen sentenced Robert Monera to life imprisonment after a jury containing three women found Monera guilty of murdering a woman for the slaying of Henry Thompson.

Fire, which destroyed the frame home of H. Jackson at Akron, burned to death the two Jackson children, Wayman, aged 18 months, and Raymond, 3.

Fred H. Wick, formerly connected with the Ohio Iron and Steel company at Youngstown, died in New York.

Chester A. Meek, county prosecutor, ordered all fox hunts in Crawford county prohibited.

Mike Vujanovich was arrested at Youngstown, charged with having attempted to bribe prohibition enforcement officials.

At a local election Wapakoneta voted to issue bonds in the sum of $100,000 for the purpose of rebuilding the present municipal lighting plant.

Lavine Jones, 19, whose mother is postmistress at Orbsonton, is in the hands of United States officials at Toledo, charged with tampering with mails.

Pasquale Carconi, 28, was shot and killed at New Paltz, N. Y., during a celebration of the anticipated arrival of his bride from Italy. He died refusing to name his assailant.

At Upper Sandusky William J. Alther sued Harold G. Short for $10,000 for loss of an eye destroyed by a shot while they were hunting.

During 1930 Noble county had 289 deaths and 160 births, County Health Commissioner Murray announced.

Fire destroyed the dancing pavilion in Casino park, Mansfield.

John Koperski, 55, father of 10 children, was killed at Toledo by a negro bandit.

Morgan Engineering company, Alliance, announced that 1,200 employees had accepted wage cuts ranging from 10 to 20 per cent.

Akron city water rate was increased, 33 1/3 per cent to meet added expense in the departmenting train killed Edward Squires, 45, switchman, at a Cincinnati crossing.

Petitions are in circulation in Fayette county asking the legislature to abolish the present school code. Excessive cost of county and district superintendents is charged.

Mrs. Pauline Fierchies, 19, Toledo, died after swallowing poison. She feared an approaching operation.

C. R. Goldfrederick died at Cincinnati from the effects of wounds received Dec. 18, when he was assaulted and robbed.

Hesitating when ordered to "stick 'em up," William Jarvis, 31, negro, was shot to death by another negro at Columbus. Jarvis was witness of the slaying.

XX SURE CURES

"OLD JINGLESON says he can cure any disease by drinking hot water," announced the bald boarder.

"He has had every disease that is officially recognized by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and has banished them all by that simple means."

"Anything becomes a curative agent if a man believes in it hard enough," said the star boarder.

"Jasper Jones says he was tormented with rheumatism for a year and tried everything of which we read in the almanacs, and nothing did him any good until he got a horse chestnut and carried it around in his pocket. Then the rheumatism disappeared, and he played a return engagement since. I have talked with Jasper often, trying to point out the folly of his claim, but he refuses to yield an inch. I used to have all kinds of rheumatism before I got that horse chestnut," he says, "and now I haven't a single one. Who would ask better proof than that?"

"And echo answers who, my dear Mrs. Jiggers. It may be that a horse chestnut in the hip pocket is a specific for rheumatism. It isn't safe to denounce any theory as a false alarm."

"The fellow used to be always groaning about his disease, until it became unpleasant to meet him. He couldn't talk about anything else. He ignored the crops and regarded the weather with contempt, and devoted all his great energy and talents to a discussion of the things that were hurting him. Then all of a sudden he began boasting of how hale and hearty he was. He explained that the road to health was absurdly easy, and there was no excuse for sickness any where. All a man had to do, he said, was to get up early in the morning, before sunrise, and draw in a hundred long breaths of the crisp morning air."

"He made the discovery himself, and it was more important than any modern invention. His sincerity is shown by the fact that there was no possible graft connected with it. A man can't sell the morning air, and draw in a hundred long breaths of the crisp morning air."

"His cure was so cheap that I decided to try it, as I was suffering from a broken heart and a sluggish liver at that period. I set my alarm clock for an hour before sunrise, and got up in the pale, bleak dawn, and put my head out of the window to inhale the prescribed hundred breaths. I had reached the twenty-seventh breath when a disheveled bee or wasp came flying from a night of revelry, stung me on the nose, and I was in such agony that I put a porous plaster on the nose, and I didn't finish the treatment, and never tried it again."

"That I knew many people who claimed they were cured of everything from the nose, hoof and mouth disease, by the hundred-breaths treatment."

"There was a spring on my father's farm, and I doped it with sulphuric acid and a few other wholesome ingredients, and then began selling the water to the afflicted for ten cents a jug. Some marvelous cures were effected. Men hobbled there on crutches to buy the healing fluid, and when they left they threw their crutches away."

"For a brief season I had more small change than any boy in the county, but my father returned home from a visit and when he found out what I had been doing, he interviewed me with a hickory pole, and for a year or two I was busy paying back the money I had collected from sufferers. The people who had been healed suffered a relapse as soon as they heard the water was faked; which goes to show, Mrs. Jiggers, that we are entitled to a better quality of butter on this table."

Way of Escape.

Dora—"Did you see the way that man smiled at me?"

Doris—"Yes, dear. Let me have a look at your face. Perhaps you've got a smut on your nose!"

THAT DEPENDABLE FORD QUALITY

Ford durability began back in 1908 when Henry Ford started experimenting with Vanadium steel and heat-treating processes. He knew that a more exact tempering of steel for motor car building must be worked out. Vanadium, it was learned, when added to molten steel, gives to that steel a greater toughness and adhesiveness. And now other alloys have been found which are superior to Vanadium. With the Ford Motor Company constant process is the daily companion. The Ford products—Car, Truck, Tractor—grow in quality daily. Heat-treating temper each part so that it will best withstand the wear or tear to which it is subjected. Ford chemists and analysts are created formulas and standard specifications for every individual part of the Ford car—not only for the steel but for everything from pneumatic tires to top.

Ford durability isn't a matter of accident, it is a matter of painstaking thoroughness in laboratory and factory. The Ford is a car of precision—not of standardized values. Order your Ford car now. No matter how fast they may be made the demand multiplies faster. Order today for we can make fairly prompt deliveries—Runabout, Touring Car, Coupe, Truck and Fordson Tractor.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 10

BIBLE TEACHINGS ABOUT THE CHRISTIAN'S BODY (HEALTH).

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 6: 19, 20; 12: 27; Gal. 6: 19.

GOLDEN TEXT—Every man that loveth his body loveth himself.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Prov. 24: 26; 12: 1; Gal. 6: 19.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Taking Care of Our Bodies.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Growing Strong.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Value of Health.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Young People's Health Problems.

The teachings of this lesson have an important bearing upon physical health, but the primary reference is to the body as the temple of the Holy Spirit. The air with which Paul was dealing was not that of mere hygiene. That physical health may be included we do not question, but and serious will be the blunder if that only is taught.

1.—Gloryifying God in Your Body (I Cor. 6: 19, 20).

It should be noted that the last clause of verse 20 is omitted in the Revised Version and the best manuscripts. The conclusion of Paul's argument is, "therefore glorify God in your body."

1. The Christian's body is the temple of the Holy Spirit (v. 19). God's dwelling place on earth is now the redeemed human body instead of the temple at Jerusalem. If the sinless Spirit is to dwell in the body it must be kept clean. To defile or abuse the body in any way is to insult the Spirit and commit the most awful sacrilege. This truth, apprehended, solves forever the problem of licentiousness, idleness, use of tobacco, the abuse or neglect of the body in any way whatsoever.

2. The Christian's body is God's property (v. 19). Being God's temple, the proprietary right is in God and not man. Being the property of the Lord, the Christian's body is "holy," and therefore ye eat or drink or whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God (I Cor. 10: 31). "Holiness unto the Lord" ought to be written over our bodies.

3. The Christian's body has been bought (v. 20). God has paid to redeem the body with the precious blood of Christ (I Peter 1: 18, 19). We estimate things by what they cost. When we estimate our bodies in that light we will be very jealous of their purity. Guarding our health is part of our religion.

4.—Keeping the Body Under Control (I Cor. 9: 24-27).

The Christian's life is more than mere existence, there is something to do—to be accomplished.

1. It is a race (vv. 24, 25). In order to win a prize there must be self-denial and definite exertion. The Christian obtains life by contact with Jesus Christ through faith (John 3: 18; 5: 24). This he possesses before he can begin the race. While he gets salvation (life) at the beginning, God places before him definite rewards as incentives to exertion. The Christian believes in getting life, but works for rewards. In the Olympian games only one could hope to get the prize, but in the Christian race there is a reward waiting for every one who disciplines himself and runs. As the racer in these games mastered his desires and abstained from everything which might hinder him to win the prize, so the Christian will make any sacrifice to win. The prize in the Grecian games was corruptible, but the prize of the Christian is incorruptible. If the heathen would practice such self-denial regardless of its pain or a gain of pleasure, shall not the Christian turn from bodily indulgences of every kind so as to obtain the crown of righteousness which fadeeth not away?

2. It is a fight (vv. 26, 27). The Christian's efforts are not mere beatings of the air. He has a real antagonist. His fight is not a sham conflict. He should exert himself with all his energy, and strike to hit his enemy. In order to win success the body must be kept under. In this case the antagonist is the body. It should be so dealt with as to bring it under subjection. All the evil propensities of his nature should be brought under control.

III.—Reaping What You Sow (Gal. 6: 7, 8).

God has established a law in the world that whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap. To go on sowing with the expectation of not reaping is to mock God. The world is full of examples of those who thus mocked Him. This text has primary reference to giving to the support of ministers of the gospel; its real bearing is upon the believer for his selfishness rather than upon the sinner for his meanness, but it has a bearing on all that we do.

Very Sure of God.

The shepherds and the Wise Men came away from Bethlehem very sure of God. They had not been believers or atheists, but the sight of the little Jesus brought to them a fresh and mighty consciousness of God's continual presence. Even the anticipation of God's coming in Jesus put a new song on the lips of Zachariah and Mary, and one sight of the Child was enough to open all the fountains of gratitude in the heart of the aged Simeon.—Congregationalist and Advance.

Intelligent Being.

A man in proportion as he is intelligent, makes a given force accomplish a greater task, makes skill take the place of muscles, and with less labor gives a better product.—Channing.

Byss From Serghum Huska.

French scientists have found that serghum husks yield a gum which can be used for dyeing wool, silk, leather, and vegetable fibers. The possible colors, which are sun-proof and soap-proof, are various shades of red and pink, gray and dark brown.

NEAR TO NATURE

By GENEVIEVE BLANK

Copyright, 1934, by Genevieve Blank. All rights reserved.

It was a bird and a book that led Dale Worden to become acquainted with Bella Vance.

Bella Vance, a girl who had been a city street and passed to gaze into the show window of a haberdasherie. It was dismal and dust-infested, as are most windows given to the exhibition of inanimate nature in the shape of stuffed and preserved articles, but next to a disapproving eagle with one glass eye bulging and an articulated specimen of a foot there was a fair specimen of a falcon bird, neat and formal of plumage as in its native woods.

The pretty songster, myrtle just now, touched a chord of memory in the mind of Worden, that was missing.

Where he had passed his life in the Ozarks bird life was at its most enticing and interesting stage. His father had lived and died among them, had given his years to their study, had written two books on their history and habits and both had become standard in the scientific libraries of the world.

In the window lay one of these volumes. It showed usage, but was evidently placed there to attract a purchaser.

The sign over the place, old and faded, read: "Robert Vance." The young man, Worden, the owner of the store, freshly lighted shop and a bell attached to its other side tinkled. Behind the counter was a young girl, wearing a long apron, busy sewing together a nest in the web foot of a rare species of Labrador duck. She was fresh and charming as to face and wore a radiant smile of youth and innocence.

"Mr. Vance is not in, I suppose," suggested Worden.

"My uncle is gone for the afternoon," replied Bella Vance. "But I may be able to serve you if it is anything in stock."

"No," dissented Worden, "a more whim to see Mr. Vance," and then Worden told of how the familiar falcon bird had made him think of home, and of his pleasure at coming across the book his father had written. The girl's eyes gleamed at the sight of the falcon, and she asked in a spirit of genuine interest.

Worden was nothing loath to expatiate on the rare old family mansion, with its quaint, pretty nooks and corners, but his auditor had attention most for "the house in the tree," a Titanian forest, where John Worden had built an aerial home for himself and his favorites. It was roomy, secure, reached by a rope ladder, and it had open apartments where the birds could nest and feed and bathe, while the view beyond it spread out a paradise of shade and color.

Worden was due to get back to Hazelwood, within a week and anticipated the development of some coal land discovered on the estate, but he lingered two, then three. And then he could not terminate his always pleasant visits to uncle and niece, for he had learned to love the latter.

Robert Vance was about to remove to another city to combine his business with a like one, conducted by an old-time friend. Bella was an orphan. It was an eventful and happy evening in the life of Dale Worden, upon which he asked her to marry him and guard her consent.

There was a tender, loving parting from Robert Vance. Then the honeymoon began. Artless, inexperienced Bella was ecstatic as a child released from school to travel with a loved companion half across the continent and for the first time in her life view real nature. Mountains, woods, the laughing waters were a joyous revelation to her. When they turned their faces homeward she could talk of little else but the bird house and the grand views, and the sweet solitudes surrounding it. The grand old mansion and its roomy comfort had no attraction for her. The house in the tree seemed to be surrounded by her.

It was well that this was so. A vast surprise awaited Dale Worden when they motored up to the home of his youth. It was in shape, and the bird house explained that it had burned down a week previous.

"And Mrs. Vance, the housekeeper?" inquired Worden.

"She is installed in the tree house, sir."

"Oh, let us go there!" and an hour later the bride of a week was singing with the birds at home with them, and so happy and contented that Dale Worden realized what a priceless creature he had won for his wife.

"We will soon rebuild the old home, Bella, dear," he said. "We cannot always live in this mere dove cot of a house."

"Oh, Dale, darling!" whispered Bella, her clinging arms about him, "I am so content. Is it not also a love cot? For you and I and the sweet, merry songsters are the happiest family in the world!"

What a Woman Can Do.

It is not only wicked to swear; but it is so needless, and a woman can put all this rage and contempt that any possible circumstances could call for into the simple and perfectly moral exclamation: "O, you!"—Ohio State Journal.

First Woman to Join Union.

The first woman ever admitted to a trade union composed of men is believed to have been Miss Mary Baker, who in the late sixties was unanimously elected to membership in the Chicago branch of the International Typographical union.

How Cincinnati's Greatest Store Secured Its Title

HISTORY records the deeds of many great men. Business history records the record of many great institutions. A store may grow big yet never attain greatness.

The Mabley & Carew Company have become great because they have always felt that they owe a duty to the public above everything else.

A pleased and satisfied patron in the estimation of this store is far more desirable than the profit from hundreds of dissatisfied patrons.

The aim of this great institution is to supply the public with quality merchandise at the very lowest possible prices—to satisfy every customer, to treat every patron as a friend—to make every person welcome and have them feel at home—to serve the entire public to the best of their ability—and to never permit any concern to undersell—quality considered.

This friendly, homey store bids you welcome. Visit us when you come to Cincinnati.

You Can Write a Book

When someone asked Mark Twain which was his favorite of all the books he had written it took him just about half a second to answer, "My Bank Book."

Everyone can write a book—not like Huck Finn, perhaps—but on the style of Mark Twain's favorite, the true story of one who keeps his money matters in good order and does not forget Tomorrow in the excitement of Today.

Your bank book tells your story. Perhaps our officers can help you make it good reading.

LINK LANDS ANOTHER.

Sheriff Funderburg landed E. E. Braham, Dayton, whom he arrested and took before Squire Jones for transporting liquor. He had a three gallon jug, five ones and two pints of corn liquor. Braham plead guilty and was fined $1000 and costs and is yet in jail owing to the fact that he cannot pay the fine.

FRED EWRY INJURED.

Fred Ewry sustained a bad accident Wednesday while at work on the Curry McElroy farm. His foot was caught in a rolling cutter while cutting down corn stalks. The main leader was severed above the ankle. Dr. Marsh was called and took the young man to the McClellan hospital where the leader was sewed up. Fred was recently badly injured in an accident when the truck he and his father were driving was struck by a train in South Solon. He was not fully recovered and Wednesday was his first day to work for Mr. McElroy.

RICHARD BULL DEAD.

Richard Bull, aged 67, prominent farmer in the Clark Run neighborhood, died from heart trouble in the field at his home about five o'clock, Wednesday evening. He was engaged in moving some fence when the attack came.

The deceased was married to Emma E. Morgan in January 1880 and she survives with three children, Ernest and Raymond, who reside near and Austin of Akron. A brother, L. M. Bull resides in Xenia. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

WHAT TRUCKS DO.

Trucks this winter ruined a part of the improved macadam road this side of West Jefferson. For some time it has been impassable. Stone was put on to tide traffic over but the trucks continued to tear up the road. In all cases of crushed stone have been put in that one spot of 60 feet.

When regular fishermen go out to fish they bring home the fish and not a good fish story. Several days ago Raymond Ritenour and Will Marshall had the fever for a fishing trip and to the reservoir they went. They had no hard luck story to tell and evidently used some scientific system to land the big catch they brought home with them. They had bass, cat fish and croppies and we can testify to the fact that we never had a nicer lot of fresh fish on a table before us. Here's hoping that they may have the same good luck the next trip.

CHURCH FEDERATION MEETING, APRIL 15

Representatives of Greene County churches will meet Friday, April 15, at the First Methodist Church of Xenia in an interdenominational conference to consider the report of the recent rural church survey in the county and to formulate a cooperative program designed to correct weaknesses revealed by the survey.
The Board of Missions, chairman of the evangelization committee of the state federation will discuss the conditions in this county and give information as to the survey over the state at large.

Although two-thirds of the population of Greene County outside Xenia are not church members, the rural and village churches of the county registered a gain of only four per cent in the one year covered by the survey. The survey shows the county to have 67 rural churches and village churches with a total enrollment of 7,405. There are 64 Protestant churches of 18 denominations, with a combined resident membership of 5,998. The 64 Protestant churches are served by 39 pastors, of whom 27 devote full time to ministry. Only 11 have full time resident pastors, most of the full time ministers being on circuit which divides their time between two or more churches. One minister serves nine churches. 24 of the 64 churches have services less than once a week. Only one of the 64 Protestant ministers whose salaries were reported in the survey are receiving more than $1,500, what is regarded as a minimum wage for rural ministers in Ohio.

O. N. U. GLEE CLUB

The Ohio Northern University
Girls' Glee Club gave a very pleasing entertainment in the opera house last Friday night. It was under the direction of Miss L. E. Field, director of the Piano department of the College of Music of that University.
Miss Lucile Russell as soprano soloist and Miss L. E. Field, as reader, Miss Lecroft is well known in Chicago musical circles and her work as director of this splendid glee club has been well trained. Miss Fairchild is a charming soprano, whose voice has been well trained. Miss Fairchild as a reader won the approval of the audience. Miss Fairchild has had experience on the chautauqua circuit.
There were sixteen members of the party and the program rendered was of a very high class.
The ladies were very well pleased with their reception here. The college boys here upheld Cedarville's reputation for hospitality and the young ladies felt well repaid for their visit.
They were particularly pleased with our opera house, our public schools and Cedarville College.

GOOD FOR "MIKE"

Charles Kay, an editorial writer
on the Springfield Sun, also a Representative from Clarke county in the legislature, has the following to say concerning Representative M. A.
Broadstone of this county: "One of the most respected members of the present general assembly is the venerable father-in-law of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Lawrence Laybourne. He is Representative
M. A. Broadstone of Greene county.
Mr. Broadstone made several good hits in the legislature this week. He said: 'Our taxation committee has been incubating for months on this taxation proposition, but it has not yet hatched out anything that appeals to me.'
Again said Representative Broad-stone, 'It seems to me that the members of this assembly have been far more interested in doing something to the people of the state than they have in trying to do something for them.'
Again he said: 'When I was married, my wife and I made a solemn compact that we would always keep our family expenses within our income, even if we had to borrow the money to do it.' This he said, appeared to be the policy of our large cities at this time."

ORDINANCE NO. 103.

An ordinance to issue a certificate of indebtedness of the village of Cedarville, Ohio, in the sum of $450-00, in anticipation of the revenue of the Public Service Fund of said
village.

Be it ordained by the Council of the Village of Cedarville, State of Ohio: Section 1. That a certificate of indebtedness in the sum of four hundred and fifty dollars ($450.00) be issued in anticipation of the revenues
of the Public Service Fund of said village, said Public Service Fund being a subdivision of the General Revenue Fund of said Village. Said certificate shall be dated, shall become due four months after its date, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Section 2. Said certificate of indebtedness shall be signed under the direction of the Village Clerk and the Finance Committee of Council, shall be signed by said clerk and by the Mayor of said Village of Cedarville, and sealed with the corporate seal of said Village of Cedarville, Ohio. Said certificates of indebtedness shall be sold for not less than par and accrued interest.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 4th day of April, 1921.
D. H. McFarland,
Mayor of the Village of Cedarville,
Ohio.
Attest: J. W. Johnson, Clerk of the Village of Cedarville, Ohio.

CLIFTON MAY HAVE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL.

County Superintendent A. C. Aultman is working out a plan whereby Clifton can have a Junior High school. The school was formerly first grade but under the new school laws no high school has been possible. It is planned to turn the High school over to Cedarville High to complete the course. Already a number of Clifton students are in our high school.

NOTICE TO HORSE BREEDERS

Verdun, year old Belgian, good bone and feet. Come and look this horse over. Another Prince Albert in make up and color. Season $20.
Bp. Brown Imported Belgian, a good breed. Season $17.50.
Lord Nelson, gray Percheron, six year old an extra good breeder as every one is well pleased with his colts.
Season at $20.
All colts insured to be all right.
Any mare parted with after served,
owner forfeits insurance. The above horses will make season 1 mile East of Cedarville at my place on Columbus pike.
Harry Townsend.

PROPERTY IMPROVEMENT MAY BE A GO.

From the way things look now Cedar street will be one of the first residence streets in town to be improved. Property owners are taking quite an interest in the question and most of them seem favorable.
Many on North Main street are also agitating the question for that section while those on South Main are anxious yet this hardly will be done
until the Jamestown pike is completed.

MAKES AN ASSIGNMENT.

G. M. Chase, wealthy farmer, South
Charleston, has made an assignment

Springfield. Inability to realize on notes outstanding and the fact that he had considerable money in the closed location bank. He places his assets at $100,000 and liabilities at $180,000.

SILENT WATCHMAN GONE.

Who spirited away our silent watch man from the public square in the darkness of the night? This is the latest problem before the village officials. The warning to autoists disappeared sometime Monday night.

AL. G. FIELD DEAD.

Al. G. Field is dead, the famous minstrel is no more. For thirty-five years he has appeared over the theatrical routes in minstrel productions that always bore the reputation of being clean and wholesome amusement. He was a resident of Columbus and by careful business management earned a fortune estimated at $500-000.
